GOING GREEN

The following attractions, accommodations and restaurants have been selected by our Lonely Planet author because they demonstrate a commitment to sustainability. We've selected them for their support of local producers and sound environmental practices, and because they're involved in conservation or environmental education, or have been given an ecological award. We also highlight organizations and businesses that have demonstrated a proven commitment to bettering the life within their local communities. If you think we've omitted someone who should be listed, contact us at lonelyplanet.com/contact.
