

Southern California Trips

Surf, sand and sex will always sell SoCal, especially in Hollywood's star-studded dreamscapes. The reality won't disappoint either: the swimsuits are smaller, the water warmer and summers less foggy here than in NorCal. Los Angeles, the 'City of Angels,' is the place for celebrity spotting. Surf culture rules San Diego and Orange County, where Disneyland proves an irresistible attraction for kids.

You'll find even more road-tripping adventures inland. Turn up the heat in SoCal's deserts, starting with the chic resorts of Palm Springs. Then dig deep into the backcountry beauty of Death Valley and Joshua Tree, where dusty 4WD roads lead to remote ghost towns and hidden springs. Finally, leave all of the crowds behind on SoCal's most iconic road trip: Route 66, the USA's legendary 'Mother Road'.
