It's not only ecotourism that is starting to take off in Cambodia, but also community-based tourism in remote areas and a whole host of restaurants and shops dedicated to helping the disadvantaged or disabled. The following attractions, tours and properties have all been selected by Lonely Planet authors because they demonstrate an active sustainable-tourism policy; some are involved in conservation or environmental protection, others in training and development for the disadvantaged, and some to raise funds to support social projects in healthcare or education.

We want to keep developing our sustainable-tourism content. If you think we've omitted someone who should be listed here, or if you disagree with our choices, email us at talk2us@lonelyplanet.com.au and set us straight for next time. For more information about sustainable tourism and Lonely Planet, see www.lonelyplanet.com/responsibletravel.
