London's Top 16

British Museum (p79)

1 With more than six million visitors trooping through its doors annually, the British Museum in Bloomsbury is Britain's most visited attraction. You could spend a lifetime in this vast and hallowed collection of artefacts, art and age-old antiquity, and still make daily discoveries. If you're not sure where to start, join one of the highlights or eye-opener tours for a precis of the museum's treasures. Whatever your approach, make sure you glimpse the Rosetta Stone, key to deciphering hieroglyphics, and the other-worldly mummies.

📍 The West End

Tate Modern (p160)

2 The favourite museum of Londoners (and quite possibly the world), this contemporary art collection enjoys a triumphant position right on the River Thames. Housed in the former Bankside Power Station, the Tate Modern is a vigorous statement of modernity, architectural renewal and accessibility. The permanent collection is free, and the gallery's ziggurat extension, opened in 2016, provides 60% more exhibition space and a new (and free) vantage point in London. Exhibition spaces are pushing the conceptual envelope too, with installation and performance art.

📍 The South Bank

National Gallery

(p87)

3 This superlative collection of (largely pre-modern) art in the heart of London is one of the largest anywhere, and provides a roll-call of some of the world's most outstanding artistic compositions. With highlights including works by Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, Gainsborough, Constable, Turner, Monet, Renoir and Van Gogh, it's a bravura performance and one not to be missed. The on-site restaurant is also exceptional, rounding out a terrific experience and putting the icing on an already eye-catching cake.

📍 The West End

Tower of London

(p137)

4 Few parts of the UK are as steeped in history or as impregnated with legend and superstition as the titanic stonework of this fabulous fortress. Not only is the tower an architectural odyssey but there's also one of the world's largest diamonds, free tours from magnificently attired 'Beefeaters', a dazzling array of armour and weaponry, and a palpable sense of ancient history at every turn. Because there is simply so much to see, it's well worth getting here early – you will need at least half a day for exploration.

📍 The City

Culinary London

(p44)

5 Don't let anybody tell you that the food in England is a let-down: London has long been a shining light in culinary excellence, with a kaleidoscope of cuisines unrivalled in Europe. The capital is particularly strong in Indian and other Asian flavours, but don't miss the opportunity of trying traditional or Modern British cuisine, either in a good gastropub or one of the finer restaurants, such as Dinner. For those with a sweet tooth, an afternoon tea or a treat from the capital's many cake shops is a must.

🍴 Eating

Victoria & Albert Museum (p178)

6 You could spend a whole day in the huge Victoria & Albert Museum and still be astounded at its variety and depth. Located in stylish South Kensington, the world's leading collection of decorative arts has something for everyone, from Islamic textiles to antique Chinese ceramics, photography, fashion, works by Raphael and modern design classics from iMacs to Nike shoes. And don't overlook the fabulous architecture of the museum, which is a major attraction in itself.

📍 Kensington & Hyde Park

London Pubs (p52)

7 London minus its pubs such as Lamb & Flag would be like Paris sans cafes. Pub culture is a part of London's DNA and the pub is best place to see local people in their hop-scented element. Longer opening hours have cemented them as the cornerstone for a good night out across the capital. They're also a favourite for family-friendly long weekend lunches. Once no-go zones for discerning foodies, pubs have long upped their game: standout gastro-pubs dot London's culinary cosmos and rival great restaurants.

🍷 Drinking & Nightlife

London Eye (p165)

8 You may have eyeballed London from altitude as you descended into Heathrow, but your pilot won't have lingered over the supreme views that extend in every direction from London's great riverside Ferris wheel. The queues move as slowly as the Eye rotates (though there are ways to fast-track admission), but you're rewarded once you've lifted off and London unfurls beneath you. Avoid grey days – if possible! If you've limited time, make this the first stop on your visit so you can at least say you've seen the sights.

📍 The South Bank

Natural History Museum (p182)

9 With its thunderous, animatronic Tyrannosaurus rex, riveting displays about planet Earth, the outstanding Darwin Centre and architecture straight from a Gothic fairy tale, the Natural History Museum is quite simply a work of great curatorial imagination. Kids are the target audience but, looking around, you'll see adults equally mesmerised. Unveiled in 2017 the new-look Hintze Hall, with its diving blue whale and new exhibits, keeps the museum looking fresh. Winter brings its own magic, when the glittering ice rink by the east lawn swarms with skaters.

📍 Kensington & Hyde Park

Westminster Abbey (p76)

10 Adorers of medieval ecclesiastic architecture will be in seventh heaven at this sublime abbey, hallowed place of coronation for England's sovereigns. Almost every nook and cranny has a story attached to it. Among the highlights, you will find the oldest door in the UK, Poet's Corner, the Coronation Chair, 14th-century cloisters, a 900-year-old garden, royal sarcophagi and much more. Be warned that the crowds are almost as solid as the abbey's unshakeable stonework, so aim to join the queue first thing in the morning.

📍 The West End

Kew Gardens (p314)

11 Where else in London can you size up an 18th-century 10-storey Chinese pagoda and a Japanese gateway while finding yourself among one of the world's most outstanding botanical collections? Kew Gardens is loved by Londoners for its 19th-century Palm House and other Victorian glass-houses, its conservatories, tree canopy walkway, architectural follies and mind-boggling variety of plants. Kids will have a ball in the play areas. You could easily spend the day here, but the Kew Explorer train will help you tick the main sights in half that time.

📍 Richmond, Kew & Hampton Court

Hampton Court Palace (p310)

12 It may no longer be a royal residence but Hampton Court hasn't lost its splendour – inside or out. The magnificent Tudor palace, so coveted by Henry VIII that he coaxed it from Cardinal Thomas Wolsey in 1515, was extended in the 17th century by Christopher Wren, and visitors can delight in the different architectural styles. Don't miss the Tudor kitchens, which once churned out meals for up to 1200 people for Henry's court, and make sure you leave time for the sumptuous gardens – you might get lost in the maze...

West End Performances (p126)

13 The West End is synonymous with musicals; no trip to London would be complete without an evening of Mama Mia!, Les Misérables or Phantom of the Opera. But if musicals aren't to your taste, there are more alternatives than you'll have evenings to fill: theatre, dance, opera, small gigs, big-ticket concerts or live jazz at venues such as Ronnie Scott's. London truly is the capital of the arts. The trick is to book either far in advance for a particular show or last minute for bargains. APOLLO VICTORIA THEATRE

★ Entertainment

Camden Town (p253)

14 A foray into trendy North London, away from the central sights, is a crucial part of the London experience. Camden's market – actually three markets in one great melange – may be a hectic and tourist-oriented attraction, but snacking on the go from its international food stalls is a great way to enjoy browsing the merchandise. At night Camden's terrific music scene, throbbing nightlife and well-seasoned pub culture are magnets pulling in night owls from across the city.

CAMDEN LOCK

📍 Hampstead & North London

Shakespeare's Globe (p162)

15 Few London experiences can beat a Bard's-eye view of the stage at the re-created Globe. Get a standing ticket as one of the all-weather 'groundlings' who watch from the open-air yard before the stage for an unusual Elizabethan-style experience. Otherwise pay extra for a seat in the gallery. The theatre is a triumph of authenticity, right down to the nail-less construction, English-oak beams, original joinery and thatching (sprinklers are a modern touch). If you've a soft spot for Shakespeare, you'll have an absolute ball here.

Hyde Park & Kensington Gardens (p184)

16 London's urban parkland is virtually second to none and is the place to see locals at ease and in their element. Hyde Park alone ranges across a mighty 142 hectares; throw in Kensington Gardens and you have even more space to roam and everything you could want: a central London setting, a royal palace, extravagant Victoriana, boating opportunities, open-air concerts, art galleries, magnificent trees, and a tasteful granite memorial to Princess Diana, as well as a magnificently overblown memorial to Prince Albert facing the grand form of the Albert Hall. OUR STORY

A beat-up old car, a few dollars in the pocket and a sense of adventure. In 1972 that's all Tony and Maureen Wheeler needed for the trip of a lifetime – across Europe and Asia overland to Australia. It took several months, and at the end – broke but inspired – they sat at their kitchen table writing and stapling together their first travel guide, Across Asia on the Cheap. Within a week they'd sold 1500 copies. Lonely Planet was born.

Today, Lonely Planet has offices in Franklin, London, Melbourne, Oakland, Dublin, Beijing and Delhi, with more than 600 staff and writers. We share Tony's belief that 'a great guidebook should do three things: inform, educate and amuse'.

OUR WRITERS

Damian Harper

Notting Hill & West London, Richmond, Kew & Hampton Court, Greenwich & South London, Kensington & Hyde Park, Survival Guide

Born off the Strand within earshot of Bow Bells (favourable wind permitting), Damian grew up in Notting Hill way before it was discovered by Hollywood. A onetime Shakespeare and Company bookseller and radio presenter, Damian has been authoring guidebooks for Lonely Planet since the 1990s, and is a member of the British Guild of Travel Writers. He lives in South London with his wife and two kids, frequently returning to China (his second home). You can find out more at www.damianharper.com.

Peter Dragicevich

The City, East London, Survival Guide, Plan Your Trip After a successful career in niche newspaper and magazine publishing, both in his native New Zealand and in Australia, Peter finally gave into Kiwi wanderlust, giving up staff jobs to chase his diverse roots around much of Europe. Over the last decade he's written literally dozens of guidebooks for Lonely Planet on an oddly disparate collection of countries, all of which he's come to love. He once again calls

Auckland, New Zealand his home – although his current nomadic existence means he's often elsewhere.

Steve Fallon

The West End, Plan Your Trip & Understand After 15 full years living in the centre of the known universe – East London – Steve cockney-rhymes in his sleep, eats jellied eel for brekkie, drinks lager by the bucketful and dances round the occasional handbag. As always, for this edition of London he did everything the hard/fun way: walking the walks, seeing the sights, taking (some) advice from friends, colleagues and the odd taxi driver and digesting everything in sight. Steve is a qualified London Blue Badge Tourist Guide (www.steveslondon.com).

Emilie Filou

The South Bank, Clerkenwell, Shoreditch & Spitalfields, Hampstead & North London, Day Trips & Plan Your Trip

Emilie Filou is a freelance journalist specialising in business and development issues, with a particular interest in Africa. Born in France, Emilie is now based in London, UK, from where she makes regular trips to Africa. Her work has appeared in publications such as The Economist, The Guardian, the BBC, the Africa Report and the Christian Science Monitor. She has contributed to some 20 Lonely Planet guides including France, Provence, London, West Africa, Madagascar and Tunisia. You can find out more on www.emiliefilou.com
