

Since 1886 Lady Liberty has welcomed millions of immigrants sailing into New York Harbor in the hope of a better life. It now welcomes millions of tourists, many of whom head up the 354 steps to her crown for one of New York City's finest skyline and water views. If you miss out on crown tickets, you may have better luck booking tickets to the pedestal, which also has commanding views. (www.nps.gov/stli; Liberty Island; adult/child from $17/9; 9:30am-5:30pm, check website for seasonal changes; S1 to South Ferry, 4/5 to Bowling Green)

Fork and Plate Icon Grab some fast food on the ferry or hit Essex St Market (120 Essex St, Lower East Side) for some picnic provisions on your way downtown.

Ellis Island was the American gateway for over 12 million new arrivals between 1892 and 1954. These days it's home to a moving museum, paying tribute to these immigrants and their indelible courage. Opt for the self-guided audio tour, which brings to life the collection of personal objects, photographs and film footage. (www.nps.gov/elis; FREE, ferry incl Statue of Liberty adult/child $17/9; 9:30am-5:30pm; S1 to South Ferry, 4/5 to Bowling Green)

Fork and Plate Icon Decadent French dishes are the order of the day at Anthony Bourdain's Les Halles (15 John St, btwn Broadway & Nassau St).

Known for its very expensive team, its very expensive construction ($1.5 billion; opened in 2009), and its 27 World Series wins, Yankee Stadium channels the intimacy of the '23 original, so if you're into baseball – or béisbol or beysboll or baseball – don't miss it. Even if you're not into baseball, trek out to Queens to experience the rabid fandom. (tickets ☎212-926-5337; www.yankees.com; E 161st St at River Ave; tours $20, tickets $20-235)

Fork and Plate Icon At the game, grab a hot dog, or for something different, opt for an eggplant-and-mozzarella sandwich from Parm (Great Hall, btwn Gates 4 & 6).

The core part of the World Trade Center (WTC) redevelopment is finally open to the world. Titled Reflecting Absence, the memorial's two massive reflecting pools are as much a symbol of hope and renewal as they are a tribute to the thousands who lost their lives to terrorism. Beside them stands the state-of-the-art Memorial Museum, a striking, solemn space. (www.911memorial.org; cnr Greenwich & Albany Sts; admission $24;  A/C/E to Chambers St, R to Rector St, 2/3 to Park Pl)

 Head to Danny Meyer's cult burger Shake Shack (215 Murray Ave btwn West St & North End Ave) for fast-food refueling at its finest.

The intersection of Broadway and Seventh Ave (better known as Times Sq) is New York City's hyperactive heart: a restless, hypnotic torrent of glittering lights, bombastic billboards and raw urban energy. It's not hip, fashionable or in-the-know, and it couldn't care less. It's too busy pumping out iconic, mass-market NYC – yellow cabs, golden arches, soaring skyscrapers and razzle-dazzle Broadway marquee. (www.timessquare.com; Broadway at Seventh Ave;  N/Q/R, S, 1/2/3, 7 to Times Sq-42nd St)

 Cuban lunch counter El Margon (136 W 46th St, btwn Sixth & Seventh Aves) is always packed and well worth a visit. Try the legendary cubano sandwich.

Big, splashy Broadway shows are the ones most often associated with New York City's entertainment scene, but Broadway shows refer strictly to productions staged in the 40 or so official Broadway theaters – lavish early-20th-century jewels surrounding Times Sq. It's also worth checking out off-Broadway (adventurous, less-costly theater playing to smaller houses), or off-off-Broadway (even edgier still, playing to audiences of fewer than 100 people). (Times Square & Broadway; tickets from $80)

 Grand Central Oyster Bar & Restaurant (Grand Central Terminal, 89 E 42nd St) is very atmospheric and serves exceptional oysters.

The Apollo has been Harlem’s leading space for concerts and political rallies since 1914 and, with its gleaming marquee, is one of the neighborhood’s most visible icons. Virtually every major African American artist in the 1930s and ’40s performed here, including Duke Ellington and Billie Holiday. Decades on, this NYC landmark delivers a thriving program of music, dance, master classes and special events. (www.apollotheater.org; 253 W 125th St at Frederick Douglass Blvd; admission weeknights/weekends $16/18; S A/C, B/D to 125th St)
