Itineraries

Amman to Cairo

This journey represents a shorter version of the old İstanbul-to-Cairo traveller favourite (no longer possible due to the war in Syria) and includes some of the Middle East’s premier attractions.

Your journey starts in Amman, a cosmopolitan city with Roman ruins and brilliant restaurants. After visit to the Dead Sea (an easy day trip from the capital), detour to Jerusalem, the Middle East’s spiritual heart. Returning to Jordan, spend some time exploring fabulous Petra, the Middle East’s most beguiling ancient city. Further south, Petra’s rival to the title of Jordan’s most spectacular site is Wadi Rum, a soulful red-hued desert landscape that rewards those who spend a couple of days exploring. From here, leave Jordan behind and cross the Red Sea at Aqaba to Nueweiba in Egypt. Where you go from here depends on the prevailing security situation, with much of the Sinai Peninsula considered risky at the time of research. Assuming all is well, continue on from Nuweiba to Dahab, for Red Sea snorkelling and an excursion to catch sunrise from atop Mt Sinai. From Dahab (or from Nuweiba if security is uncertain) make for clamorous, attraction-rich Cairo.
Welcome to the Middle Eastern heartland for a trip through the best that Jordan, Israel and the Palestinian Territories have to offer. Although distances can be small, there’s a lot to pack in. Most of this trip is best accomplished using public transport.

Amman may lack the cachet of other Middle Eastern cities, but most travellers end up staying longer than planned. From here, it’s easy to make side trips to many of Jordan’s must-see destinations; the echoes of Moses at Mt Nebo, the mosaics of Madaba and the Crusader castle of Karak all deserve your time. When you’re ready to move on, head to Jerash, a quiet yet rewarding ancient site with a wonderful colonnaded way running through its heart. Travelling south, Bethany-Beyond-the-Jordan, the place where Christ was baptised, resonates strongly with pilgrims, while floating in the buoyant waters of the Dead Sea is a signature Middle Eastern experience.

Across the Jordan River, roiling Jerusalem is the starting point of so much Middle Eastern history. From Jerusalem, your ability to visit the biblical towns of Bethlehem and Jericho will depend on the security situation. In the country’s north, timeless Akko and the world-class ruins of Caesarea are worth as much time as you can give them. On your way back, don’t miss Tel Aviv, a lively place to let your hair down and discover the hedonistic side of Israeli life. Its antithesis, the Negev Desert, is a wilderness area that you simply don’t expect to find in this ever-crowded corner of the earth.

Crossing back into Jordan, the spectacular scenery of Dana Nature Reserve shouldn’t be missed, while Petra is an astonishing place, where reality outstrips even the most lofty expectations. If time allows, spend at least a couple of days here, so you can savour the main tombs as well as visit the site’s more outlying areas. The same applies to Wadi Rum – you could get a taste of this soulful place in a day, but you’ll gain a deeper understanding of its gravitas if you sleep out under the stars for at least one night. The laid-back Red Sea port of Aqaba, with world-class diving and snorkelling, provides the perfect place to rest at journey’s end.
From marvellous İstanbul to the fascinating cities of central Iran, this itinerary takes you from the Middle East’s most Western-oriented corner to its least. Neither, however, conforms to stereotypes and the journey between the two is like traversing the region’s complicated soul. Allow two weeks for each country.

İstanbul is at once a destination in its own right and the starting point of so many Turkish journeys. After a few days, make for Ankara, the country’s underrated capital, and then take a detour to conservative but welcoming Konya, the spiritual home of the Sufis. Perhaps returning via Ankara, make for the otherworldly landscapes of Cappadocia (Kapadokya) that seem to have sprung from a wonderfully childlike imagination. Linger as long as you can here – it’s a landscape that really gets under skin the longer you stay. When you can finally tear yourself away, begin the long journey east to the brooding statues of Mt Nemrut, surely one of Turkey’s most thought-provoking sights. By the time you reach Erzurum, you’ll have left the last remnants of tourist Turkey, and your reward in this eastern city is a fine open-air gallery of Seljuk- and Mongol-era monuments. Consider climbing Mt Ararat (although you need to plan well in advance to do so), before crossing the border into Iran.

Your first stop in Iran should be Tabriz, not least because its bazaar is one of the finest, most evocative of all Middle Eastern markets. Spend a day or two in Tehran, itself home to an overwhelming market as well as fine museums. But after a couple of days, stop resisting the temptation and head on to Esfahan, one of the Middle East’s most beautiful, most bejewelled cities (at least in the centre), with its utterly exquisite gardens, arched bridges and tiled mosques. Shiraz is a cultured, appealing city, not to mention the gateway to Persepolis, that towering monument to all that was good about ancient Persia. Continue to Yazd and check into an atmospheric traditional hotel in the old town. Spend two days exploring the old city, the Zoroastrian Towers of Silence and perhaps making a trek into the desert. Finish up in Kerman, from where you can take a tour to the remarkable ‘sand castles’ of the Kaluts.

Among the Kurds

Begin in Ankara, the heart of Turkey’s secularist Atatürk cult of personality, where you’ll find a splendid museum and a fine citadel. On your way southeast into the Kurdish heartland, make the obligatory stop in Cappadocia (Kapadokya) and Mt Nemrut before exploring the rarely visited but always fascinating cities of Gaziantep and Şanlıurfa. Nearby Mardin combines a beautiful setting with equally beautiful architecture and a fascinating cultural mix. By the time you reach Diyarbakır, with its intriguing architecture, you’re deep in Kurdish territory. Head for Doğubayzit, one of eastern Turkey’s most extraordinary sights, with a legendary castle and stunning views of Mt Ararat; the mountain can be climbed, although most travellers content themselves with not-so-distant views from the town. Further south, Van is home to the lovely Armenian church on Akdamar Island. If you’ve come this far, it’s likely you’re en route to Iraq. If it’s safe, cross into Zakho with its iconic bridge, then spend as long as they’ll let you getting to know Amadiya, Dohuk, Al-Kosh, Lalish and Gali Ali Beg, before finishing up in Erbil, one of the oldest cities on earth, but one rushing headlong towards the future.

Lebanon & Turkey

For this Mediterranean sojourn, count on a week to 10 days in Lebanon and two weeks in Turkey.

Begin in Beirut, a glamorous metropolis, the Middle East in complicated microcosm and filled with Mediterranean joie de vivre. If it’s safe, head south to the Phoenician heartland – Sidon, the Temple of Echmoun and Tyre. East of Beirut, Baalbek is one of the Middle East’s premier Roman sites, though you will need to check the security situation before you set off. Head north, to the pretty fishing port of Byblos, then finish up with some hiking through the Qadisha Valley, finally putting on your skis at the Cedars.

From Beirut, fly to İstanbul for a few days in that most glorious of cities. Three days should give you a taste before you move on to visit Gallipoli, with its poignant echoes of WWI, and Troy, where altogether more ancient battles took place. Work your way around the coast, pausing at the mighty ruins of Ephesus, which rank among the Middle East’s most imposing, and lingering in the delightful Mediterranean villages of Kaş or Olympos, where you’ll wonder why life can’t always be like this.
There’s so much to see in Egypt that it deserves its own itinerary. Count on a week for Cairo and Alexandria, a week for the Western Oases, and another week for the country’s south. When security returns to the Sinai Peninsula, you could spend an extra week there.

So many Egyptian journeys revolve around Cairo, and you’ll return here again and again. Apart from being the Middle East’s largest and most clamorous metropolis, Cairo is also home to the iconic Pyramids of Giza, the Egyptian Museum and a wonderful coffeehouse culture. Return to Cairo, then head north to Alexandria, Egypt’s sophisticated and quintessentially Mediterranean city. It feels like nowhere else in the country, and a combination of terrific museums and great food gives you further reason to visit.

A really long journey west is worth it for your first sight of Siwa, one of the Sahara’s great oasis outposts and home to an ancient temple in the sands. It’s the sort of place where you can stand on the outskirts of the village, just as Alexander the Great did, and contemplate eternity. Dusty desert trails lead to the Bahariya Oasis; you’ll need to rent a private 4WD to reach Bahariya, but why not make it part of a deep desert expedition from Bahariya into the White and Black Deserts.

It’s back to Cairo to enjoy the pleasures of civilisation for a day or two, then jump on a train south to Aswan, one of Africa’s loveliest riverside spots. There’s a monastery and museum to anchor your explorations of the city, but its real charm is its proximity to the Nile. Take the detour south into Nubia to Abu Simbel, one of Egypt’s most extraordinary temples, then from Aswan sail slowly up the Nile aboard a felucca, savouring the slow rhythms of life along this, the world’s longest river all the way to Luxor, home to the richest collection of Pharaonic sites in the country. Here you’ll find so much of what drew you to Egypt in the first place, including the Temples of Karnak, the Valley of the Kings and the Valley of the Queens.
Daniel Robinson
Israel & the Palestinian Territories
Brought up near San Francisco and Chicago, Daniel spent part of his childhood in Jerusalem, a bit of his youth at Kibbutz Lotan and many years in Tel Aviv, where he worked on a PhD in late Ottoman history, covered suicide bombings for the AP, and helped lead the local Critical Mass campaign for bike paths. A Lonely Planet author since 1989, he holds a BA in Near Eastern Studies from Princeton and an MA in Jewish History from Tel Aviv University.

Anthony Sattin
Egypt
Anthony has been travelling around the Middle East for several decades and has lived in Cairo, as well as other cities in the region. His highly-acclaimed books include Lifting the Veil, A Winter on the Nile and The Gates of Africa. His latest, Young Lawrence, looks at the five years TE Lawrence spent in the Middle East leading up to 1914. He happily spends several months each year along the Nile and is still looking for a plot where he can tread mud-bricks and build himself a house. He tweets about Egypt and travel @anthonysattin.

Andy Symington
Iran
Andy is an experienced Lonely Planet author based in Spain who has contributed to numerous guidebooks, articles and other products on countries across the world. He has a degree in Iranian archaeology and has long had a fascination with this beautiful land. On this trip he baked in desert heat, shivered in northern blizzards and marvelled at the country’s fabulous culture, landscapes and people.

Jenny Walker
Jordan
For over a decade Jenny has written extensively on the Middle East for many Lonely Planet guides, and is a member of the British Guild of Travel Writers. She has a long academic engagement in the region (she did her dissertation on Doughty and Lawrence, her MPhil thesis from Oxford University on the perception of the Arabic Orient, and is currently studying for her PhD at NTU). Associate Dean at Caledonian University College of Engineering in Oman since 2008, she has travelled in 110 countries from Panama to Mongolia.
A beat-up old car, a few dollars in the pocket and a sense of adventure. In 1972 that’s all Tony and Maureen Wheeler needed for the trip of a lifetime – across Europe and Asia overland to Australia. It took several months, and at the end – broke but inspired – they sat at their kitchen table writing and stapling together their first travel guide, Across Asia on the Cheap. Within a week they’d sold 1500 copies. Lonely Planet was born.

Today, Lonely Planet has offices in Franklin, London, Melbourne, Oakland, Beijing and Delhi, with more than 600 staff and writers. We share Tony’s belief that ‘a great guidebook should do three things: inform, educate and amuse’.

OUR WRITERS

Anthony Ham

Coordinating Author, Syria

Anthony first landed in Damascus in 1998 and couldn’t bear to leave. His first job for Lonely Planet was the Iraq chapter of this guide back in 1999, and he has since written or contributed to Lonely Planet guides to Jordan, Iran, Saudi Arabia and Libya, and five editions of this Middle East guide. He has also worked in Australia as a refugee lawyer with clients from the Middle East and has a Masters degree in Middle Eastern politics. Anthony now divides his time between Melbourne and Madrid and writes for magazines and newspapers around the world. Read more about Anthony at www.anthonyham.com.

Sofia Barbarani

Iraq

Sofia is Italian but has lived in Iraq’s Kurdish region for over a year. She was drawn to Iraq and Kurdistan following a Masters degree in Middle East studies and moved to the region to pursue a career in journalism. Despite her previous knowledge of Kurdistan, travelling the region gave her a better understanding of the enclave and its people. Her favourite trip was undoubtedly to Akre, where the hospitality of the Kurds really shone through.

Jessica Lee

Turkey

Jessica first went to Turkey in 2005 and ended up leading adventure tours across the breadth of Anatolia for four years. In 2011 she moved there to live and now calls Turkey home. As a co-author on the last two editions of Lonely Planet’s Turkey guide, she’s travelled to most of Turkey’s far-flung corners but especially loves the wild landscapes of the southeast, the ruin-strewn trails of the Lycian Way and the wacky rock formations of Cappadocia. She tweets @jessofarabia.

Virginia Maxwell

Lebanon

Although based in Australia, Virginia spends much of her year travelling in the Middle East, Mediterranean Europe and North Africa. She has written Lonely Planet guidebooks to Turkey, Egypt, Syria, Iran and the United Arab Emirates, and this is the second time she has worked on the Lebanon chapter of Lonely Planet’s Middle East book.
