Why Go?

If Mongolia's yin is its pristine countryside, then Ulaanbaatar (UB) conforms nicely to its yang. An enormous city of pulsating commerce, heavy traffic, sinful nightlife and bohemian counter-culture, the Mongolian capital elicits as much shock as it does excitement. The contrasts within the city can be exasperating too; Armani-suited businessmen rub shoulders with mohawked punks and del-clad nomads fresh off the steppes. One minute you're dodging the path of a Hummer H2 and the next you're mystified by groaning Buddhist monks at Gandan Khiid. It's a wild place that bursts into life after slumbering through a long winter. UB is not the easiest city to navigate, as many buildings get lost in a forest of concrete towers, but with a little patience, travellers can take care of all their logistical needs, watch traditional theatre, sample international cuisine and party till three in the morning. This ever-changing city may be the biggest surprise of your Mongolian adventure.

When to Go

Ulaanbaatar

Mid-July The city to a halt to make way for Naadam and its wrestling, archery and horse racing.

August Lounge at street cafes and swill beer during the last throes of summer.

31 December A New Year's Eve in the world's coldest capital is one you won't soon forget.

Ulaanbaatar Highlights
