Sustainability is increasingly key in the travel industry. But how can you know which businesses are actually eco-friendly and which are simply jumping on the environmental bandwagon?

The following attractions, accommodations, eateries and entertainment/drinking options have been selected by Lonely Planet authors because they demonstrate a commitment to sustainability. We've selected hotels, bars and restaurants for their support of local producers or their devotion to the 'slow food' cause – so they might serve only seasonal, locally sourced produce on their menus. We've also highlighted farmers markets and the local producers themselves. In addition, we've covered accommodations that we deem to be environmentally friendly, for example for their commitment to recycling or energy conservation. Attractions are listed because they're involved in conservation or environmental education.

For more tips about travelling sustainably in New England, turn to the Getting Started chapter (p15).

We want to keep developing our sustainable-travel content. If you think we've omitted somewhere that should be listed here, or if you disagree with our choices, contact us at www.lonelyplanet.com/contact and set us straight for next time.
