Regis St Louis

Coordinating Author; Lisbon & Around
Regis’ long-time admiration for wine, rugged coastlines and soulful music made him easy prey for Portugal – a country he has travelled extensively over the past decade. Favourite memories from recent trips include borrowing a friend’s VW van to explore the wild beaches and back roads outside of Lisbon; chatting with shepherds in the mountains near Manteigas; hearing avant-garde fado in Lisbon; and feasting on delectable percebes in the Algarve. Regis has written more than 40 guidebooks for Lonely Planet – including the last three editions of Lonely Planet Portugal – and his travel articles and essays have appeared in the Los Angeles Times and the Chicago Tribune among numerous other publications. He lives in Brooklyn, New York. Regis also wrote the Plan Your Trip, Understand Portugal and Survival Guide sections.

Kate Armstrong

The Algarve; The Alentejo
A regular visitor to Portugal, Kate first backpacked around the country more than 20 years ago and fell for the Alentejan countryside, Algarvian seafood and Portuguese hospitality. Lured by the language of fado, she later returned to study Portuguese. For this edition Kate bodysurfed her way along the Algarve, ‘mixed’ with the megaliths, hiked sections of the Costa Vicentina, and consumed quantities (ahem, kilos) of convent cakes. She is published regularly in Australian and international publications – see www.katearmstrong.com.au.

Anja Mutić

Porto, the Douro & Trás-os-Montes; The Minho
Croatia-born New York–based writer Anja Mutić has had a full-blown love affair with Portugal for nearly a decade. On her first visit in 2005, she fell head over heels; on the second visit in 2006, she met her partner in life and travel and has been returning ever since for stints and longer stays. Anja has covered many a city and corner of Portugal for various publications but has a particularly soft spot for the north and deems Porto among the most poignant cities on earth. Anja is online at www.everthenomad.com.

Andy Symington

Estremadura & Ribatejo; The Beiras
Though he hails from Australia, Andy’s great-grandfather emigrated to Porto in the 19th century and that side of his family still call Portugal home. This connection means that he’s been a frequent visitor to the country since birth, and now nips across the border even more regularly from his base in Spain. He has authored and co-authored many Lonely Planet and other guidebooks.
Plan Your Trip

Itineraries

This grand journey takes you from the vibrant Portuguese capital to the sunny beaches of the Algarve and up north to the striking riverside city of Porto. Along the way, you’ll visit Unesco World Heritage sites, stroll medieval town centres and sample the varied cuisines from the north, south and centre.

Start in Lisbon, spending two days exploring the city’s enchanting neighbourhoods, fado-filled taverns, atmospheric cafes and restaurants, and late-night street parties. Take in vertiginous tram rides, the hilltop castle and viewing points, museums and historic sites. On day three, head to nearby Sintra, for quaint village life amid woodlands and palaces. Next enjoy two days exploring fascinating Évora and its nearby megaliths. From there, go south and spend a day in peaceful Tavira, one of the Algarve’s prettiest towns. Take the ferry out to car-free Ilha de Tavira. Continue west to beach- and nightlife-loving Lagos. Don’t miss the pretty beaches (Batata, Dona Ana and Camilo) south of town. Keep going west until you hit laid-back Sagres, where you can visit its dramatically sited fort, surf good waves... and contemplate the endless horizon at the cliffs near town. Go north back to Lisbon, stopping en route in the coastal town of Vila Nova de Milfontes, a great spot for uber-fresh seafood grilled up to perfection. You can eat it right on the waterfront. Spend one day in Tomar, a sleepy river town that’s home to the staggering Convento de Cristo. Then book two nights in the venerable university town of Coimbra, wandering the old quarters, visiting medieval convents and churches, and enjoying good meals, lively bars (during the academic year) and live music. Spend your last two days in Porto, Lisbon’s rival in beauty.

Enjoy a day exploring the Ribeira, visiting avant-garde galleries and museums, and taking in the nightlife in the city centre. Then head across the river to Vila Nova de Gaia, for an introduction to the country’s great ports. If time allows, take a boat trip along the Rio Douro, taking in some dramatic gorge scenery and centuries-old vineyards.
Exploring the Atlantic Coast

Scenic shorelines, captivating towns and staggering architectural monuments set the stage for this memorable journey down the Atlantic coast.

Begin in Porto, the port-wine capital at the mouth of the Douro. Spend two days exploring its historic centre, museums, parks and gardens, plus the beach neighbourhood of Foz do Douro. On the third day go north to the seaside town of Vila do Conde, a quick and popular beach getaway. Next, head south to Aveiro, for rides along its scenic canals on high-prowed moliceiros (traditional boats). For a fine day trip from here take a bus and ferry out to the Reserva Natural das Dunas de São Jacinto, a scenic nature reserve and birdwatching site. The popular resort town of Figueira da Foz is the next stop; you’ll find prime surfing, a touch of nightlife and wide people-packed beaches, with more isolated sands out of town. After a day of sunbaking, make an inland day trip to the striking mountain-top castle of Montemor-o-Velho. The picturesque and fun-loving beach town of Nazaré is next and here you can frolic in the waves, enjoy traditional seafood restaurants and take the funicular to a clifftop promontory for superb views. Nazaré is also a good base for exploring the architecturally stunning monasteries (and Unesco World Heritage sites) in Alcobaça and Batalha. From there, head south to Óbidos, with its cobbledstone lanes and upmarket inns. Go west back to the coast to reach Peniche, where you’ll find excellent beaches, particularly in nearby Baleal. From Peniche, be sure to take a boat out to the remote island of Berlenga Grande. You can even stay overnight (reserve well ahead). Continue south to Ericeira, a whitewashed village perched atop sandstone cliffs. Explore the beaches, feast on seafood, then continue on to the fairy-tale setting of Sintra, where picturesque guesthouses make a fine overnight stay. Take the road to the coast, and follow it out to the dramatically set Cabo da Roca and down to the windswept beach of Praia do Guincho. The next stop is the pretty village of Cascais, home to narrow pedestrian lanes, lively outdoor restaurants and leafy gardens. End your journey in Lisbon, spending a few days exploring Portugal’s vibrant capital.
Dramatic scenery, frozen-in-time villages and clifftop castles make for a charming journey on this loop around Portugal’s often overlooked interior.

From Lisbon head 200km southeast to the historic village of Castro Verde. Visit the royal basilica in town then the LPN Interpretative and Environmental Centre, a great spot for bird-watching some 5km north of town. Drive east to Mértola, a picturesque medieval settlement set high above the placid Rio Guadiana. Wander the old streets, go kayaking on the river, sample wild boar (a local speciality) and overnight in one of the area’s charming inns. From Mértola, drive north to Beja, a lively town with a walled centre, intriguing museums and a 13th-century castle with sweeping views over golden wheat fields beyond town. Keep north to reach Évora, the most vibrant town in the Alentejo. Its large cobblestone centre is a great place to wander, and is packed with history (don’t miss the Bone Chapel and Roman temple). Évora has great traditional restaurants and makes a good base for visiting neolithic sites in the countryside. Head northeast to the marble town of Vila Viçosa, home to a staggering palace and a peaceful town centre. Next up is Castelo de Vide, a wildly remote-feeling town perched on a clifftop. Have a wander through the sleepy streets, have lunch, and then continue to Monsanto, another photogenic castle-in-the-sky town. Leave early for the two-hour drive to Vila Nova de Foz Côa, gateway to some of Iberia’s most extensive petroglyphs. From here, it’s an easy detour to the vineyards along the Douro. Otherwise, head southwest into the Parque Natural da Serra da Estrela, a scenic, mountainous area with great hiking, and peaceful guesthouses where you can soak up the scenery. Manteigas makes a great base. After a day or two in the mountains, head west to the lively university town of Coimbra. Visit the historic campus, stroll the riverbank, feast on hearty Portuguese cooking and catch live Coimbra-style fado. Visit Conímbriga southwest of Coimbra for a look at Roman ruins, then continue to Santarém, with Gothic architecture, atmospheric restaurants and panoramic views, before finishing the tour in Lisbon.
This trip will give you a chance to see spectacular contrasts in scenery by following Portugal’s southern rivers, beaches and ridges.

From Lisbon head to the Costa da Caparica, taking in the festive beaches near the town, and then escaping the crowds on wilder beaches to the south. Next head down to Praia do Meco for more sandy action and some great seafood. Keep going south to reach the desolate cliffs of Cabo Espichel. A good place to stay for the night is at a rural guesthouse outside of Sesimbra, a former fishing village turned resort with open-air restaurants and family-friendly beaches. On the next day, continue east, stopping for a picnic on the forest-lined shores of Parque Natural da Arrábida. At night, stay in Setúbal for more seafood feasting and a wander through the sleepy old-town quarters. The next day, book a dolphin-watching boat trip along the Sado estuary. From Setúbal, take the ferry across to handsomely sited Tróia. Continue south to overnight in Vila Nova de Milfontes, a lovely seaside town with fine beaches and charming guesthouses. Next is Zambujeira do Mar, a tiny village perched above a pretty beach. Follow the coast to Aljezur, with its unspoilt, cliff-backed sands, and into the rustic town of Carrapateira, with more wild, untouched beaches, plus cafes and guesthouses catering to the surf-loving crowd. Head south, and you’ll reach the southern coast at pretty, laid-back Sagres, another surf-loving town. Visit Sagres’ sea-cliff fortress, then the surreal cliffs of Cabo de São Vicente. Go east to Lagos, one of the Algarve’s liveliest towns with loads of good sleeping, eating and drinking options. Afterwards, go inland to Monchique, with its densely wooded hillsides that offer picturesque walking, cycling and pony-trekking opportunities, followed by a spa visit in Caldas de Monchique. Back on the coast, stay overnight in the lively Faro, before journeying out to the Parque Natural da Ria Formosa, a lagoon system full of marsh, creeks and dune islands. From there, head to Tavira, set with genteel 18th-century buildings straddling the Rio Gilão.
Some folks still speak the ancient tongue of Mirandês in this rugged fortress town, and it’s a great base for exploring the canyons and cliffs of remote Parque Natural de Montesinho. (p414)

PONTE DE LIMA
A picturesque Minho town with long riverside walks and river kayaking. Visit on alternate Mondays, when a massive market spreads along the banks. (p444)

SERRA DA PENEDA
Superb hiking amid wild, boulder-strewn countryside in the northern, least-visited section of the Parque Nacional da Peneda-Gerês. (p452)

CITÂNIA DE BRITEIROS
A mysterious fortified village that was the last stronghold of Celtiberians against invading Romans some 2000 years ago. (p434)

MIRANDA DO DOURO
Some folks still speak the ancient tongue of Mirandês in this rugged fortress town, and it’s a great base for exploring the canyons and cliffs of remote Parque Natural de Montesinho. (p414)

MATA NACIONAL DO BUÇACO
Surrounding a palace-turned-upscale-hotel, this rambling forest is dotted with ponds, fountains and crumbling ruins. The spa town of Luso is just downhill. (p311)

PIODÃO
Perched along the edge of a valley, this picturesque stone village offers a window into old-world Portugal – until 1970, the only way here was on foot. (p323)
CARRAPATEIRA
Laid-back village near pristine, undeveloped beaches backed by cliffs. It’s a great place to surf or learn the ropes. (p199)

SERPA
Famed for its sheep’s milk cheese, Serpa has several curious museums (including one dedicated to timepieces), but it’s the traditional Alentejo cooking that is the real draw. (p249)

SÃO DOMINGOS
A former mining settlement that became a ghost town when the mine closed in the 1960s. (p244)

ALCOUTIM
Home to a castle, a pretty riverside beach and few tourists, this Algarve town is a great place to escape the crowds. (p171)
