Why Go?

Up here at Britain's top end it can feel more Scandinavian than Scottish, and no wonder. For the Vikings, the jaunt across the North Sea from Norway was as easy as a stroll down to the local mead hall and they soon controlled these windswept, treeless archipelagos, laying down longhouses alongside stony remains of ancient prehistoric settlements.

Though they are not as scenically splendid as Skye, say, an ancient magic hovers in the air above the Orkney and Shetland Islands, endowing them with an allure that lodges firmly in the soul. It's in the misty seas, where seals, whales and porpoises patrol lonely coastlines; it's in the air, where squadrons of seabirds wheel above huge nesting colonies; and it's on land, where standing stones catch late summer sunsets and strains of folk music disperse in the air before the wind gusts shut the pub door. Make the journey; open that door.

Orkney Islands Highlights

1 Shaking your head in astonishment at Skara Brae (p427), a village of prehistoric perfection that pre-dates the pyramids

2 Plunging down the passageway into spooky Maes Howe (p426), an enormous Stone Age tomb livened up by some bawdy Viking graffiti

3 Exploring the scenic majesty of Hoy (p430) and – for serious rock climbers – scaling the Old Man there

4 Pacing the stone-flagged main street of Stromness (p428), as salty a fishing town as you'll ever find

5 Admiring the magnificent cathedral at Kirkwall (p420)

and the much humbler Italian Chapel at Lamb Holm (p424)

6 Island-hopping the Northern Islands (p431) of Orkney, where azure waters lap against glittering beaches

7 Diving the sunken warships of Scapa Flow (p425)
