Southern Highlights

An easy introduction to some of southern Italy’s must-see wonders, this 10-day overview delivers everything from cosmopolitan city culture to ancient ruins, breathtaking coastal scenery and World Heritage–listed architecture.

Pique your appetite with two heady days in Naples, an urban wild child bursting with glorious art, architecture, street life and flavours. Spend day three roaming time-warped Pompeii before continuing to Positano, the Amalfi Coast’s pin-up town. Lap up two days here, hiring a boat for a spot of coastal cruising or hiking the breathtaking Sentiero degli Dei (Path of the Gods). On day six, continue east along the Amalfi Coast, stopping briefly in atmospheric Amalfi on your way to Matera in time for dinner, then spend the following day exploring the town’s extraordinary, Unesco-lauded sassi (former cave dwellings). Swap sassi for trulli (conical-roofed abodes) in Alberobello the following day. Spend the night, then hit the road one last time to vibrant Lecce. Dubbed the ‘Florence of the South’, the town’s quixotic baroque buildings make for an extravagant epilogue to your southern overview.
Ancient cultures and natural beauty collide in this two-week adventure. From Greek temples and Norman cathedrals to rugged mountains and coveted coastal resorts, expect a gripping journey through Italy’s southern extremes.

Fly into Palermo and take two days to savour the city’s cross-cultural food and architecture, detouring to Monreale to view Sicily’s finest Norman cathedral. On day three, take a day trip west to the World Heritage ruins of Segesta before shooting east to eye-candy Cefalù on day four. Spend a night – just enough time to admire its commanding Arab-Norman cathedral and crystalline sea. Come day five, shoot through to VIP-favourite Taormina, a long-time haunt of poets, painters and hopeless romantics. The town was once Sicily’s Byzantine capital and its sweeping ancient Greek theatre is the island’s second largest. Allow two nights of elegant slumming and consider tackling nearby Mt Etna on one of your days.

Day seven sees you catching a ferry from Messina to Reggio di Calabria in time to see the Bronzi di Riace at the Museo Nazionale della Magna Grecia. The finest examples of ancient Greek sculpture in existence, the bronze sculptures are southern Italy’s answer to Florence’s David. Rest your head in tiny Gambarie, using the town as your base as you explore the wild beauty of the Parco Nazionale dell’Aspromonte over the next two days.

Come day 10, head back down to the Tyrrhenian coast. Lunch on fresh swordfish in castle-capped Scilla, continuing through to dazzling Tropea, Calabria’s coastal darling. Spend a night recharging your weary bones, then continue north to the gritty yet erudite city of Cosenza on day 11. After taking in its impressively preserved medieval core on day 12, hit Camigliatello Silano for two nights, concluding your adventure with soul-lifting hikes through the alpine beauty of the Parco Nazionale della Sila.
Covering Campania, Basilicata, Calabria and Sicily, this three-week trip is rich in both blockbuster sights and off-the-beaten-track treasures.

Commence with a trio of days in Naples, day-tripping it to the formidable royal palace of Caserta or the ill-fated ancient towns of Pompeii or Herculaneum. Whichever you choose, treat yourself to two romantic days on Capri, making time for quiet hikes, the spectacular Grotta Azzurra and the mesmerising views from atop Monte Solaro. Sail across to Sorrento for a night then hit the fabled Amalfi Coast on day six, allowing two days in see-and-be-seen Positano and a further night in Amalfi or Ravello. Explore ancient Greek temples in Paestum on day nine before continuing to fellow World Heritage marvel Matera and its otherworldly abodes.

Come day 12, drop into ancient Metaponto. The hometown of number-crunching Pythagoras, it’s also where you’ll find the so-called Palatine Tables, a reputed pit stop for Crusade-bound knights. Close by is Policoro, its oldest cultural artefacts dating back some 9000 years. Its ancient booty appreciated, it’s time to escape to the wilds of the Parco Nazionale del Pollino. With Terranova di Pollino as your base, spend three days hiking through invigorating woods and exploring the curious Albanian villages of San Paolo Albanese and San Costantino Albanese.

Slide down to Calabria’s Tyrrhenian coastline on day 16, home to seaside show-off Tropea. Allow two nights of waterside dolce vita (sweet life) before catching a ferry from Villa San Giovanni to Sicily on day 18. Allow yourself another two days of coastal bliss in gorgeous Taormina, home to a world-class summertime arts festival. If you can pull yourself away on day 20, wrap things up with a couple of days exploring evocative ruins in Syracuse, described by Roman philosopher Cicero as the ‘greatest Greek city and the most beautiful of them all’.
Start your soulful saunter in the cave city of Matera. Spend a couple of days exploring its famous sassi, as well as the chiese rupestri (cave churches) on a hike along the Gravina. From here, continue south to the Parco Nazionale del Pollino for a serious nature fix. Base yourself in Terranova di Pollino for four days, hiking through pine woods and beech forest to Basilicata’s highest peak, Monte Pollino, and dancing to the zampogne (double-chantered pipes) in the Albanian villages of San Paolo Albanese and San Costantino Albanese. Don’t leave the park without spotting the rare Bosnian pine tree, pino loricato. Lungs filled with mountain air, it’s time to head west to the gorgeous coastal gem of Maratea. Pass a couple of days soothing your muscles in the town’s crystalline Tyrrhenian waters, kicking back at local bars and feasting on fresh seafood. From here, head south to Calabria on the SS18 coastal road. If it’s September, you might catch a chilli-eating competition in Diamante. Otherwise, keep moving until you reach Calabria’s most arresting coastal town, Tropea, where your journey ends with piercing views and sunsets.

Puglia is one of Italy’s most underrated regions. Start your revelation in dynamic Bari, exploring its ancient historic centre and huge Romanesque basilica. Strike out south, via Polignano a Mare, to the famous Grotte di Castellana, Italy’s longest network of subterranean caves. From here, a two- to three-day drive south will take you through some of the finest Valle d’Itria towns, including Alberobello, with its hobbitlike trulli houses, wine-producing Locorotondo, beautiful baroque Martina Franca and chic, white-washed Ostuni. Next up is Lecce, dubbed ‘Florence of the South’ for its operatic architectural ensembles and scholarly bent. Hire a bike and spend at least three or four days here before moving on to Galatina, its basilica awash with astounding frescoes. Head east to the fortified port of Otranto and the inviting beaches of the Baia dei Turchi, then push south along the wild, vertiginous coastline to Santa Maria di Leuca, the very tip of the Italian stiletto. Conclude your adventure in the island city of Gallipoli, feasting on raw sea urchin and octopus in its elegant town centre.

OUR STORY
A beat-up old car, a few dollars in the pocket, and a sense of adventure. In 1972 that’s all Tony and Maureen Wheeler needed for the trip of a lifetime – across Europe and Asia overland to Australia. It took several months, and at the end – broke but inspired – they sat at their kitchen table writing and stapling together their first travel guide, Across Asia on the Cheap. Within a week they’d sold 1500 copies. Lonely Planet was born.

Today, Lonely Planet has offices in Franklin, London, Melbourne, Oakland, Beijing and Delhi, with more than 600 staff and writers. We share Tony’s belief that ‘a great guidebook should do three things: inform, educate and amuse’.

OUR WRITERS

Cristian Bonetto
Coordinating Author, Naples & Campania Despite his northern Italian background, espresso-guzzling Cristian is an ardent fan of the country’s sunbaked south. A one-time writer of farce and TV drama, the Melbourne-born writer is hooked on the region’s penchant for intensity, irony and extremes. Cristian has both lived and holidayed in the Bel paese (Beautiful Country), his musings on the country’s food, culture and inimitable style appearing in newspapers, magazines and websites across the globe. To date, Cristian has contributed to over 30 Lonely Planet guides, including Italy, Naples & the Amalfi Coast, Venice & The Veneto, New York City, Denmark, and Singapore. You can follow Cristian’s globe-trotting adventures on Twitter (@CristianBonetto) and Instagram (rexcat75).

Gregor Clark
Sicily Gregor caught the Italy bug at age 14 while living in Florence with his professor dad, who took him to see every fresco, mosaic and museum within a 1000km radius. He’s lived in Florence and Le Marche, huffed and puffed across the Dolomites while researching LP’s Cycling Italy and contributed to three previous editions of this guide. A lifelong polyglot with a Romance Languages degree, Gregor has written for Lonely Planet since 2000, with an emphasis on Mediterranean Europe and Latin America.

Brendan Sainsbury
Puglia, Basilicata & Calabria An expat Brit from Hampshire, England, now living near Vancouver, Canada; Brendan has covered Italy five times for Lonely Planet reporting on 16 of its 20 regions. For this edition he suffered horizontal rain in Matera and spent three minutes in a decontamination chamber in Reggio di Calabria. When not scribbling research notes for Lonely Planet in countries such as Cuba, Peru, Spain and Canada, Brendan likes to run up mountains, strum his flamenco guitar, and experience the pain and occasional pleasure of following Southampton Football Club.
