AUTHOR THANKS

Mark Beales

Firstly, thanks to Sarah Reid for offering me the chance to return to this guide. In Bang Saen, Michiel and Mynd had some great tips and on Ko Kut, Seren was a star. On Ko Chang, thanks to Ian, Lisa and Olivier, who all helped immensely while Eric and Issac had some great ideas. The staff at TAT were as helpful as ever, especially K.Suladda and K.Kesorn. Lastly, thanks to Ann and Daniel.

Tim Bewer

A hearty kòrb kun kráp to the many people who helped me out during this update. In particular Prapaporn Sompakdee provided great help. And, of course, a special thanks to Suttawan for many things.

Joe Bindloss

Thanks as always to Linda and Tyler, for helping me get the authoritative answer on which elephant centres, restaurants, monasteries and waterfalls are truly family-friendly, and for holding the fort at home while I finished up research. In Chiang Mai, thanks to the Tourist Authority of Thailand, the staff of Awana House, the many patient red car drivers who put up with stop/start trips around the hills, and the locals and travellers who helped me find new and surprising things to see and do.

Austin Bush

My thanks to the previous authors of this guide, Joe Cummings and China Williams – believe it or not, some of your words live on! Destination Editor, Sarah Reid; this edition's Local Knowledge 'Bi', Pongtawat 'Ian' Chalermkittichai and Joe Cummings; part-time research assistants Kathy MacLeod and Maher Sattar; and the rest of the kind folks on the ground in Bangkok and northern Thailand.

David Eimer

Thanks to Sarah Reid and all the LP crew. As ever, much gratitude to everyone who passed on tips, whether knowingly or unwittingly.

Bruce Evans

I was especially fortunate to have two good friends help me on this trip: Gamontip Prayoontong (Dukata) and one of my old associates from my Buddhist monk days, Thanom Kongphet, who took me on a road trip through Nong Khai, Udon Thani and Bueng Kan (his home town). Thanks also to Khun Sutchaniphat and Khun Banphot for the trip to Phu Thok. At Lonely Planet, thanks to Destination Editor, Sarah Reid for taking a chance on me, and to Anthony Ham for providing valuable authoring tips. In Thailand, author Tim Bewer provided information about his home region.

Damian Harper

Many thanks to all who eased the way and came up with ideas, help and suggestions; most notably, gratitude to Neal Bambridge, Charoon Juntra, Brigitte Gomm, Matt Rubin, Jessica Meier, Eveline Fortuin, Amanda, Suwatchai Praesomboon, Stanley Chang and Mark Tewari. Loved the company of the charming family on the train from Hat Yai to Surat Thani, you are fine people and I wish you every good fortune. Cheers also to my brother and Thailand enthusiast, John. Thanks to Daisy, Tim and Emma, as always.

Isabella Noble

Thanks to everyone who helped out on the road, whether knowingly or not, particularly Jamie Monk and Lee Cobaj for the stellar Phuket intel. Cheers to Paul on Ko Phayam, elephant expert John Roberts, the Gibbon Rehab Project crew and Ann for Thai language tips. Thanks to my hardworking co-authors, especially fellow island experts Mark Beales and Damian Harper. Extra special thanks to Andrew, Raquel and Papi for pitching in, and to my favourite research assistant Jack Noble.

David Eimer

Hua Hin & the Upper Gulf A decade of visiting Thailand in search of beaches and fine food prompted David to relocate to Bangkok in 2012. Since then, his work as a journalist for a variety of newspapers and magazines has taken him from the far south of Thailand, to its northernmost extremities, with many stops in between. Originally from London, David spent seven years living in Beijing, and another five in LA, prior to moving to Bangkok.

Bruce Evans

Northeastern Thailand Bruce first visited Thailand in 1973 and it was love at first sight. He was back there in 1975 as part of a spiritual quest that ended in a Buddhist monastery in Northeast Thailand with the famous meditation teacher Venerable Ajahn Chah. He became a monk and stayed in various monasteries, mostly in Isan. After 17 years, he left the monkhood and worked as an editor and translator in Bangkok before moving to Australia in 1999, where he worked as an editor and managing editor at Lonely Planet until 2013. He now works as a freelance editor, translator and interpreter, and lives in Melbourne with his wife, Lek, and two children, Emilie and Richard. He is stoked to have had the chance to go back to his familiar haunts for this edition of Thailand.

Damian Harper

Ko Samui & the Lower Gulf Damian traded a career in bookselling for a four-year degree in Chinese, a decision that propelled him towards the Far East and a sharp change of tack into travel journalism and guidebook writing. Since the late 1990s, Damian has worked on Lonely Planet guides as diverse as China, Malaysia, Singapore & Brunei, Vietnam, Hong Kong, Macau and Guangzhou, London and Ireland. You can find him at www.damianharper.com. Damian also wrote the Month by Month, Travel With Children, People & Culture, Arts & Architecture and Environment & Wildlife chapters.

Isabella Noble

Phuket & the Andaman Coast English-Australian-Spanish Isabella writes about Thailand, India, Spain and beyond for Lonely Planet, Telegraph Travel and others. A big fan of Phuket despite its touristy reputation (she also penned Lonely Planet's Pocket Phuket), Isabella first fell for the Andaman on a 2008 backpacking extravaganza. Her highlights this time around: boating into gorgeous Ko Ngai, getting lost in colourful Phuket Town, finally tackling tubing in Khao Sok and escaping it all on Ko Phayam. She lives in London and blogs at www.isabellanoble.blogspot.com. Find her on Twitter and Instagram (@isabellanoble).

OUR STORY

A beat-up old car, a few dollars in the pocket and a sense of adventure. In 1972 that's all Tony and Maureen Wheeler needed for the trip of a lifetime – across Europe and Asia overland to Australia. It took several months, and at the end – broke but inspired – they sat at their kitchen table writing and stapling together their first travel guide, Across Asia on the Cheap. Within a week they'd sold 1500 copies. Lonely Planet was born.

Today, Lonely Planet has offices in Franklin, London, Melbourne, Oakland, Beijing and Delhi, with more than 600 staff and writers. We share Tony's belief that 'a great guidebook should do three things: inform, educate and amuse'.

OUR WRITERS

Mark Beales

Ko Chang & Eastern Seaboard After working as a journalist for 13 years, Mark swapped the chilly shores of England for the sunnier coasts of Thailand. Since 2004 Mark has lived in Thailand, where he has contributed to around a dozen books for Lonely Planet, been a TV presenter and dragged his backpack to every country in Southeast Asia. He is currently Head of English at an international school on the eastern seaboard. Mark lives with his wife, Ann, and their son

Daniel. For more on Mark's work, visit www.markbeales.com. Mark also wrote the Top 20, Need to Know, First Time, What's New, If You Like, Itineraries, Activities and Regions at a Glance chapters.

Tim Bower

Central Thailand While growing up, Tim didn't travel much. He's spent most of his adult life making up for this, and has since visited over 80 countries, including most in Southeast Asia. After university he worked briefly as a legislative assistant before quitting capitol life to backpack around West Africa. It was during this trip that the idea of becoming a freelance travel writer and photographer was hatched, and he's been at it ever since. He now lives in Khon Kaen, Thailand.

Find him at www.timbower.com.

Joe Bindloss

Chiang Mai Province Joe was first smitten with Thailand while travelling overland through Asia in the early 1990s, and he has returned more times than he can count over the intervening years to climb, dive, trek and shop for cooking paraphernalia so he can make Thailand's fantastic food at home. Joe has written for more than 50 Lonely Planet titles, from Thailand and Myanmar to India and Nepal. When not on the road, Joe is Lonely Planet's Destination Editor for the Indian Subcontinent.

Austin Bush

Bangkok Austin came to Thailand in 1999 as part of a language-study program hosted by Chiang Mai University. The lure of city life, employment and spicy food eventually led him to Bangkok. City life, employment and spicy food have managed to keep him there since. Austin is a native of Oregon and a writer and photographer who often focuses on food; samples of his work can be seen at www.austinbushphotography.com. Austin also wrote the Welcome To Thailand, Eat Like a Local, Food & Drink, Food Spotter's Guide and Survival Guide chapters.
