INTRODUCTION TO MONSTERS AND GHOSTS

GOOD TO SEE YOU, FRIEND! You must be wondering who I am. Well, despite looking like a schoolteacher, I'm actually a monster hunter and, if I may say so myself, one of the most famous of my kind. My name is Van Helsing.

If you are reading this, it means you are interested in the terrifying world of monsters and ghosts. In fact, don't listen to other so-called experts who trumpet around knowledge, sophistication, powerful weapons: the most important thing when dealing with these creatures is not technology, but intelligence. After all, that's how I beat my mortal enemy, Count Dracula. And I'm not talking about some tiny, silly monster... but the lord of all vampires!

In fact, don't believe for one second that garlic and holy water are all you need to beat this evil, bloodthirsty fiend, as others may say! Trust me, what you need above all else is a cool head and a cunning mind—requirements when preparing to hunt some of the most horrible and frightening creatures known to mankind.

For the journey you are about to embark on in the following pages—filled with wonderful ghosts, vicious spirits, and the most bloodthirsty, terrifying monsters—you will need all the courage you can muster... and even a touch of audacity!

HOW TO READ THIS BOOK

THIS BOOK IS DIVIDED INTO SECTIONS. Each one relates to a certain part of the world and includes a map with the various creatures marked to help you locate them.

You'll find descriptions of these monsters: some are brief, summarizing only the most important facts; others are more detailed, explaining the precise locations of sightings, characteristics that make them so unusual, and methods for how to beat them. Some of the most important monsters—regardless of their size or eerily—have two pages dedicated to them, with more detailed information on where they live and various legends about their existence.

READY FOR AN ADVENTURE?
Then turn the page and prepare to fight!

HEADLESS MAN

WHERE: Edinburgh Castle in Scotland

CHARACTERISTICS: This spirit is often seen desperately searching for his head, which he lost halfway through the 17th century. Along with this ghost, many other spirits live in this ancient castle: a maid, a woman thought to have been a witch during her lifetime, and even a dog. There are so many legends that you may not be able to visit the castle without being bothered by at least one!

HOW TO BEAT IT: Since he can't see you, he probably won't know you're there, so there's nothing to fear. However, you may end up looking scary for him and decide to go looking for his head. Don't do it! There are so many ghosts in the castle that you may find some of the ghastlier ones.

THE GREEN LADY

WHERE: Castle of Bay in Scotland

CHARACTERISTICS: The spirit that haunts the castle has been named the Green Lady. She looks like a small girl, and, in fact, her death holds a tragic love story. If you meet her, give her a smile. It won't change her fate, but it will certainly cheer her up.

LOCH NESS MONSTER

WHERE: Loch Ness, Scotland

CHARACTERISTICS: The creature that lives in Loch Ness—sometimes called Nessie—is a water monster. It has a massive body, a long snake-like neck, a tiny head, and fins. It's good at swimming and is rumored to be able to breathe on dry land, too.

HOW TO BEAT IT: All the tales about Nessie show it swimming, so if you want a close encounter, you'll need to board a boat. This isn't a good idea though, because the monster is big and aggressive. Even if it hasn't hurt anyone recently, in 1933, it was said to eat the front of a car killed by the "Loch monster," which was the first reported sighting of Nessie. Better not risk it!

THE WITCHES OF PENDLE HILL

WHERE: England

CHARACTERISTICS: There is a dark presence at the top of Pendle Hill. It's believed to be the 12 ghosts of accused witches who once lived in the area, until they were executed. They are making冤冤, so before trespassing on their land, make sure you have an angle to protect yourself from their tricks.
