

CAN YOU HELP?

A good friend of Lonely Planet,
Lady Vivian Winthrop is distraught.
On returning to London from a round-
the-world expedition, she noticed a hole in her backpack – and all of her precious jewelry has fallen out!

LADY VIVIAN
To Lonely Planet
HQ please!

Luckily, she knows just who to call... two young explorers who are perfect for the job.
Lonely Planet to the rescue!

AT LONELY PLANET HQ

Amelia and Marco have been called in to HQ to help solve this international mystery. But they'll need your help!

LONELY PLANET BOSS

Amelia, head to the airport and get on the next flight to Paris. We need you to find those jewels before someone else does!
Marco, stay at HQ with Lady Vivian,
and help Amelia retrace her steps. Use your cell phone to keep in touch.

MARCO
Got it, boss!

AMELIA

Don't worry, Lady Vivian.
You can count on us!
We'll have those jewels
back in no time.

LADY VIVIAN
Oh, thank you,
Amelia!

HIDDEN GEM

An oasis is an area in a desert where there is water, and plants can grow. There are about 90 of them in the Sahara.

SAND DUNE SCRAMBLE!

HASSAN

Lady Vivian and I went on a camel trek to an oasis in the Sahara. It was a very bumpy ride, and her bag slipped off the back. I bet something fell out.

AMELIA

OK, let's go and see what we can find!

START HERE!

Help Amelia and Hassan drive the dune buggy through the shifting sands of the Sahara to reach the oasis.

CAMEL TRAIN CONFUSION

MARGO: Are those camels I can see? Where are you?

AMELIA: In the Sahara. We're trying to track down the camel Lady U went trekking on.

MARGO: Don't annoy it - I've heard they spit! When you find it, head to Gairo to meet Dr. Miriam Shortstaff at the Egyptian Museum.

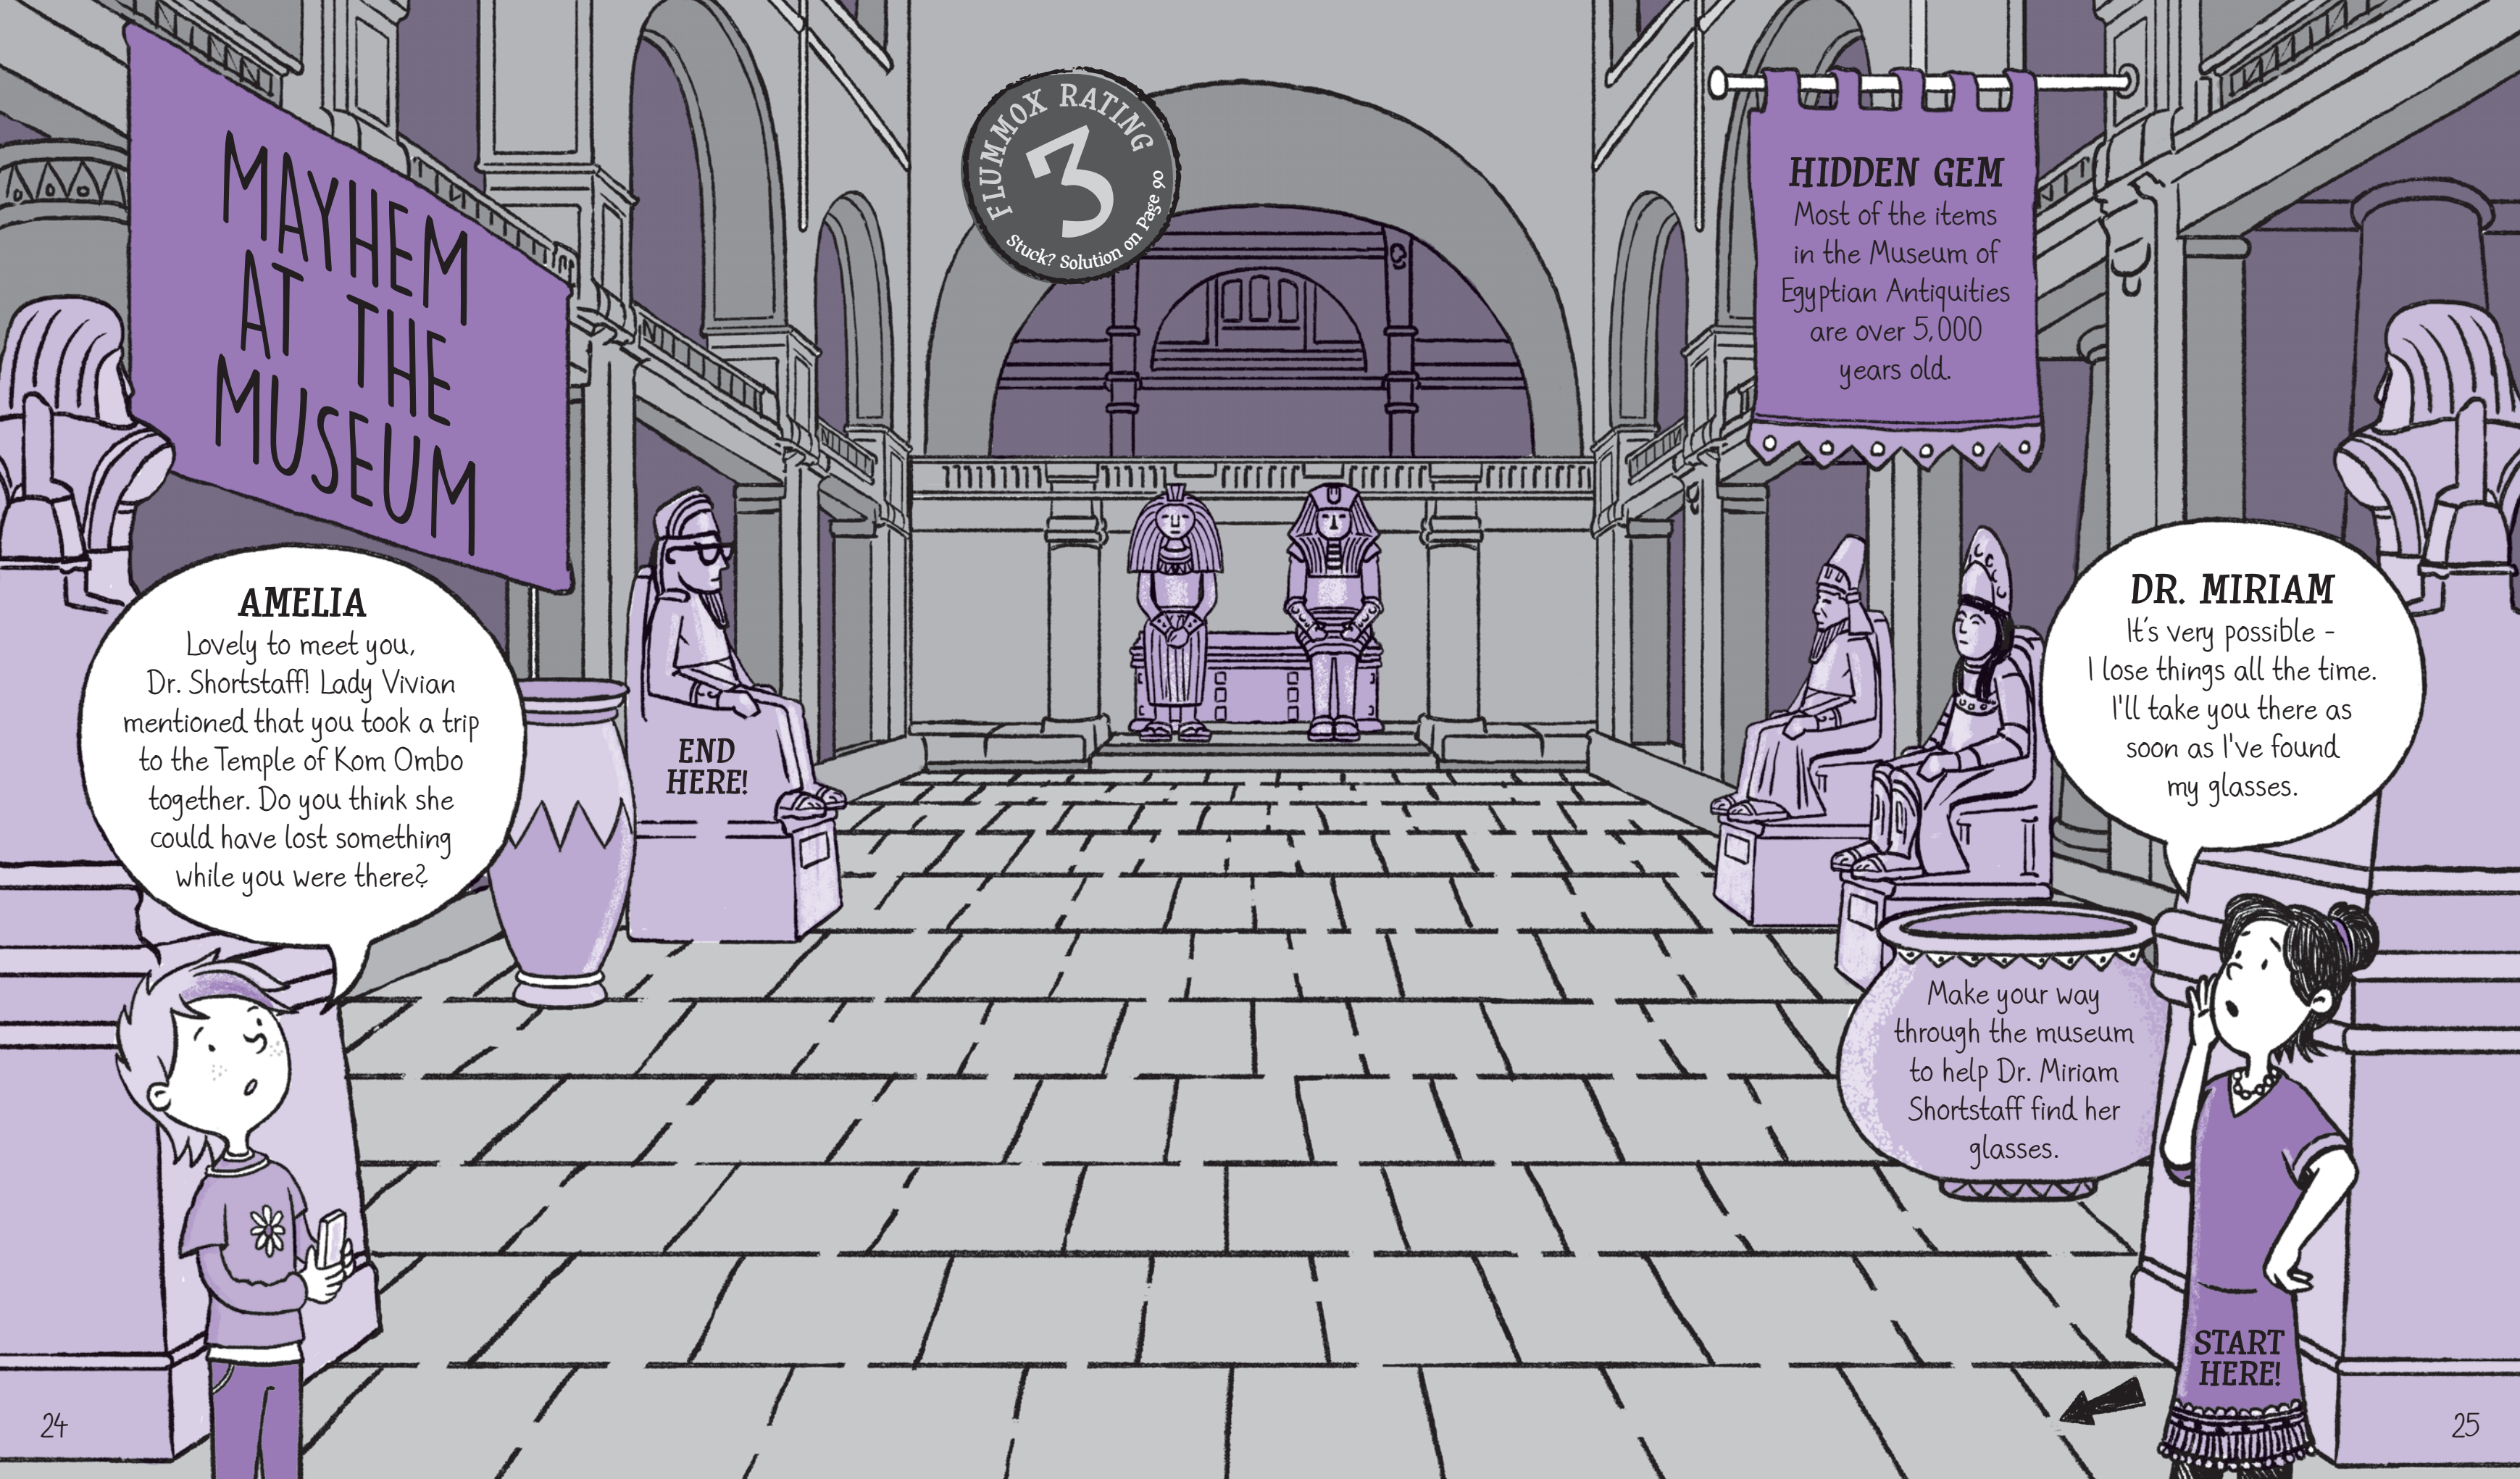

HIDDEN GEM Camels are called "ships of the desert" because the rocking motion you feel when riding them can make you feel seasick.

HERE!

Help Amelia
through the confusion
of camels to find what fell
out of Lady Vivian's bag.

MAYHEM
AT THE MUSEUM

AMELIA

Lovely to meet you,
Dr. Shortstaff! Lady Vivian
mentioned that you took a trip to the Temple of Kom Ombo together. Do you think she could have lost something
while you were there?

END
HERE!

HIDDEN GEM

Most of the items
in the Museum of Egyptian Antiquities
are over 5,000
years old.

DR. MIRIAM

It's very possible -
I lose things all the time.
I'll take you there as soon as I've found
my glasses.

Make your way
through the museum
to help Dr. Miriam Shortstaff find her glasses.

CROCODILE COMOTION

The Temple of Kom Ombo was built to worship the Egyptian crocodile god Sobek. Many years ago, sacred crocodiles would lie in the sun around the temple.

END HERE!

START HERE!

DR. MIRIAM
Oh dear! The sacred crocodiles of Kom Ombo have returned to the temple. We had better watch where we walk.

AMELIA
It's chock-a-block with chomping crocs!

Guide Amelia and Dr. Miriam through the crocodiles to find what Lady Vivian left behind. You may need to squeeze through some very small gaps. Better be snappy!

HIDDEN GEM

As well as making human mummies, the Ancient Egyptians mummified their pets and other animals as offerings to the many gods they worshipped.

JEEP SAFARI

AMELIA: Hi Marco. I found a tiara - it's so sparkly!

MARCO: Well done! If you thought those crocs were wild, think again... you're about to go on safari.

AMELIA: I can't wait!

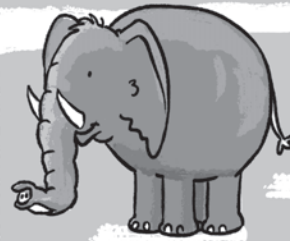

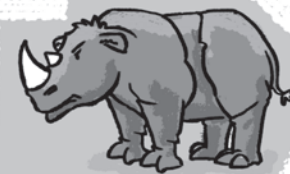

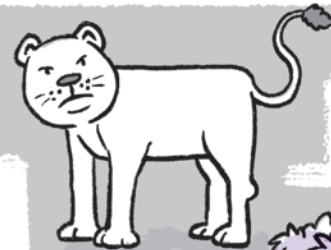

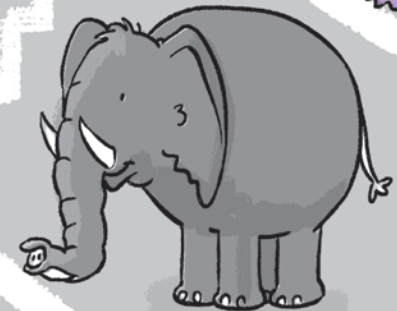

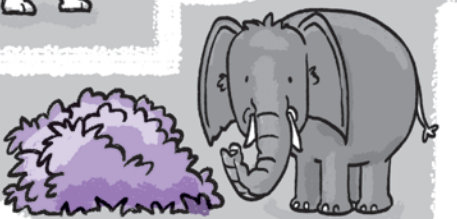

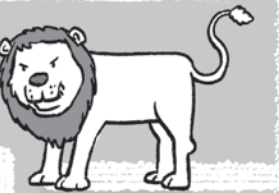

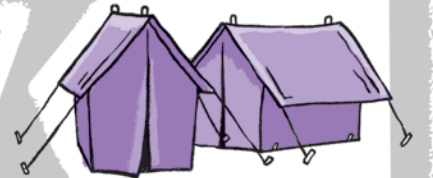

START HERE!

Lead Amelia through the Masai Mara National Reserve to get to her campsite and meet local guide, Simel.

HIDDEN GEM

The Masai Mara National Reserve is named after the Maasai people who live there and the Mara River that winds its way through the park. It is home to lions, elephants, rhinoceros, and many other wild animals.

STORMY SKY SLALOM

AMELIA: Bingo, I found a bangle!

MARGO: Great job! There's a plane waiting at the campsite to take you to the Maldives. I hope you packed your snorkel!

AMELIA: I did! Can't wait for a swim - it's really hot here on safari.

Guide Amelia's plane through the storm clouds to clearer skies.
