OUR STORY

A beat-up old car, a few dollars in the pocket and a sense of adventure. In 1972 that's all Tony and Maureen Wheeler needed for the trip of a lifetime – across Europe and Asia overland to Australia. It took several months, and at the end – broke but inspired – they sat at their kitchen table writing and stapling together their first travel guide, Across Asia on the Cheap. Within a week they'd sold 1500 copies. Lonely Planet was born.

Today, Lonely Planet has offices in Franklin, London, Melbourne, Oakland, Dublin, Beijing and Delhi, with more than 600 staff and writers. We share Tony's belief that 'a great guidebook should do three things: inform, educate and amuse'.

OUR WRITERS

CRISTIAN BONETTO

Despite being the son of northern Italians, Cristian has an enduring weakness for Naples and Campania. It took one visit as a young backpacker to get him hooked, and the Australian-born writer has been covering the region's food, culture and lifestyle for more than a decade. According to Cristian, no Italian city quite matches Naples' complexity and intrigue, and its ability to constantly surprise and contradict makes it a thrill to write about. The writer's musings have appeared in publications across the globe, and his Naples-based play Il Cortile (The Courtyard) has toured numerous Italian cities. Cristian has contributed to more than 30 Lonely Planet guides, including Venice & the Veneto, New York City, Denmark and Singapore. You can follow Cristian's adventures on Twitter (@CristianBonetto) and on Instagram (@rexcat75).

BRENDAN SAINSBURY

Born and raised in the UK in a town that never merits a mention in any guidebook (Andover, Hampshire), Brendan spent the holidays of his youth caravanning in the English Lake District and didn't leave Blighty until he was 19. Making up for lost time, he's since squeezed 70 countries into a sometimes precarious existence as a writer and professional vagabond. In the last 12 years, he has written more than 40 books for Lonely Planet from Castro's Cuba to the canyons of Peru.
