Why Go?

Unesco geopark El Hierro is an island where the impenetrable cliff-lined shores and location in the middle of the Atlantic make it both literally and figuratively remote. It was once even considered the end of the world until Columbus famously sailed the ocean blue from here in 1492 (along with his terrified crew!).

El Hierro will always feel remote, which is exactly what is so addictive about this place. It's impossible not to be entranced by the island's slow pace and simple style; by its craggy coast, where waves hurl themselves against lava-sculpted rock; by the pretty farmland and flower meadows; by the eerily beautiful juniper groves; and by the volcanic badland moonscapes in the south.

In short, El Hierro is unique – so much so that it is planning to become the first energy self-sufficient island in the world through a combination of solar, wind and water power.

When to Go

- ➡ In spring (March) the meadows of the highlands are ablaze with poppies and other wildflowers and hiking is a delight.
- ➡ For life at lower altitudes, June to early July and September are perfect for lazing around the numerous natural swimming pools or diving into La Restinga's undersea paradise.
- ➡ For cultural interest, if you're on El Hierro in late April, be sure not to miss the Fiesta de los Pastores (p215), a colourful religious procession in honour of the Virgen de los Reyes (Virgin of the Kings).

El Hierro Highlights

1 Stroll among the towering pines in the pristine El Pinar (p210) forest

2 Tackle the Camino de Jinama (p209), one of the island's best downhill walks, for vast views of El Golfo and the Atlantic

3 Walk among juniper trees sculpted by the wind into eerie, gnome-like shapes at El Sabinar (p215)

4 Grab your mask and dive into the warm, calm waters near La Restinga (p211), the island's best diving spot

5 Splash around in La Maceta (p213), an overgrown rock pool battered by Atlantic swells

6 Measure up to the giant lizards of El Hierro and explore village houses of old at the Ecomuseo de Guinea (p213)

7 Picnic among the wildflowers at the Mirador de Isora (p210), with its breathtaking views to the ocean far, far below
